

MYANMAR

INVESTING IN HEALTH

An Introduction Visit to the Healthcare Sector

Decades of isolation have left Myanmar's healthcare sector in neglect. Since transitioning to civilian rule, however, the country has put forth an ambitious plan to expand and improve its healthcare. Large investments are already on-going, and much more is expected – fueled by domestic and foreign investments as well as international aid alike. This makes Myanmar a potential key growth market for the healthcare industry.

We invite you on a visit to Myanmar - exploring the opportunities in the country's expanding healthcare sector
